MY

“ Hey dad I never thought I would miss having you around so much. The house is quite I go in you room and just look around for you to see if you need something but you are not there I have gotten so used to taking care of you that it has been to quite in the house. I know you told me you seen Nana at the hospital and you where trying to get away from her but it looks like they came to take them home with them. It was time for you to go but it still hurts my heart ❤️ that you lifted me. I know you always felt like you where a burden on us but we enjoy having you around when you where not trying to start a argument with us over the past. We love and miss you so much dad am glad you are not in pain anymore. I know like has been hard on you this last year. I am so glad I am able to put you away like you wanted but I am still going to have some of your ashes made in necklaces to give to the family that would like them so a part of you will be with everyone. You are well loved and missed. You where never a burden I hope you knew that. Love you dad love ❤️❤️
