“ *I met Andrew about 18 years ago when I first met him I thought wow this man is grumpy. I used to work at Caltrans where he used to come in all the time to work with our Traffic Division me and Andrew became really good friends he used to always lecture me he would push me and push me to do better for myself and my family thank you Andrew for that andrew would always bring me his tax stuff at the last minute and expected to be done overnight we would argue every April and he would promise me that the following year he would bring it to me in January well we all know that never happened haha I will miss our arguments in April Andrew I remember the last time you came to visit me at work about 2 months ago I can't believe you're gone rest in peace my grumpy friend =) love you lots

“ I recall back 1996 when I met Andrew, Jim Bier of DPU at the time assigned me a cubicle across from his. Everynow and then I would ask him where I could find files or computer related question. One day he had his back to the opening of his cubicle, Rayban glasses on his head, looking at some paper work. I contemplated whether I should bother him or not, but I need to ask him for info, in the lowest voice I could use, I said "Andrew..." He jumped up off his chair, Raybans flying in the air along with the papers he was holding and said WHOA. He laughed a little and I laughed alot. Told him I was sorry. I am guessing we both learned something that day. Try not to have your back to an opening and do not disturb someone reading something that may be important. Ever since I heard of his passing all I could think of is that day and the smiled like it was ok. Will miss you Andrew. your friend Mario
