“ Donna was my oldest sister. There was nine years between us. Unfortunately many of our adult years were spent miles apart since I lived back east until 1985. Thankfully there were some good years after that when we were able to spend time together. I will always remember those times we four girls got together and had fun just being together as sisters can as they grow old together. Just knowing those times are over brings tears. Rejoicing though because I know one day we will be together again. I love you Sis.
