“ I miss you Dad and even more so today. It isn't right that I no longer get to hear your voice when I tell you happy birthday. I don't know how to not miss you so much. I love you dad. Happy birthday

“ My dad was a quiet man that was hard to rile but would stand up for his family and friends. He would sit and listen with a smile and join in the conversation when he had something to contribute. He was always willing to help and it didn't matter if it was giving the car a tune up or fixing a door knob. He loved his CNN and sports channels and you could bet one of those would always be on the TV when you walked into the house.

My dad will be dearly missed by everyone who knew him. His memory will live on not only in our hearts but our minds as well. When you think of Ed, you cannot help but smile with a wonderful memory of him. The next time someone tunes up their car, baits a hook, casts a line, pitches a tent, throws a pitch, the knowledge that he passed on will be there and we should all smile at that wonderful memory and give thanks that he touched our lives.

I miss you dad with every breath I take. You were always there to pick me up, dust me off, and put me back on the right path. You were the first man I loved and showed me how a man should be a husband, father and friend.

“ Our dad was a quiet man that was hard to rile but would stand up for his family and friends. He would sit and listen with a smile and join in the conversation when he had something to contribute. He was always willing to help and it didn't matter if it was giving the car a tune up or fixing a door knob. He loved his CNN and sports channels and you could bet one of those would be on the TV when you walked into the house. He was an avid outdoorsman, loving to fish and hunt. He was able to go fishing one last time at his favorite lake, Mammoth Pool, in June with 2 grandsons and his brother Jay. He loved sports and was an avid 49'ers, Giants and Golden State Warriors fan. Dad will be dearly missed by everyone who knew him. His memory will live on not only in our hearts but our minds as well. When you think of our dad, you cannot help but smile with a wonderful memory of him. The next time someone tunes up their car, baits a hook, casts a line, pitches a tent, throws a pitch, the knowledge that he passed on will be there and we should all smile at that wonderful memory and give thanks that he touched our lives.
