Tribute Wall

“ It's been 3 years and a day later... The amount of people that show you love up to this day is something I wish you could have seen in your actual life and not just in death. I love you so much. I never knew how much you could hurt me. I wish I could have saved you. You were truly one of a kind and I know that I will never find someone like you in this lifetime. I want you to know you did your best and thank you for always letting me have a say in things and letting me speak up. I know that one day when my tears stop falling it is because my eyes have closed forever from here on earth. I pray that when they open it is in your arms like when I was a baby. I miss you so much each day more than the last. Que Diosito siempre te este cuidando until we meet again. I love you dad.
