“ Ay Amiga, how it broke my heart when I found out you had passed and still today my heart aches. I find it hard to know that I won't get a response when I text you or your hear your laughter. I'm sad that we never got to do our trip that we talked about before you got sick. I'm thankful that you trusted me as a friend as I did you. I will truly miss your political views on Facebook; how you stood for decency and your position that always stood for doing the right thing and the truth no matter what. We had just texted; I tried not bombarding you with text. I understood the importance of having that peace that you so needed to heal in your little ranch with your beauty dogs that you loved so much. I went back and read all our text especially during your difficult times with your illness. I remember what you texted "I'm going to fight like hell"! Well you did my friend. You fought hard; you are my hero, you stayed strong and positive through it all. You are a good friend, and I don't have many. You are a loyal friend, a gem that stands out. You demonstrated strength when needed; I paid attention to your strength and love for life itself. Unfortunately we lost a good soul; especially for me and all those that love you. I know that you are no longer in pain and in a better place; but still, I will dearly miss you with all of my heart. Thank you for your friendship, loyalty and strength that you shared towards me. Like you once said to me, "I love you to the moon and back"! Until we meet again Amiga. Peace and Love, G
