“ I first met Raymond when I was 21. I knew him for 10 years. Raymond and I shared so many first together. First fiancé ,first husband and wife ,first divorce but it was never nothing but love between. We were still in consistent contact with each other until one week before you left us. I planned on laughing with you about our crazy , goofy, fun marriage we once shared. Our first time road tripping on the West Coast to the East Coast, our first time to Philadelphia and eating alligator in Georgia and even zip lining and so much more. I loved Raymond and I still love him and I'm so grateful and thankful for everything you've taught me and the time that we spent together you were the best friend ,the best supporter anyone could ask for. So loving, so kind,so gentle ,so smart ,so goofy. You taught me what a beautiful soul on earth looks like ...a true angel on earth. You're big forgiving heart will live on with me and with everyone who has had the pleasure to know you. I will always carry you with me ,there's not a day that goes by that I don't think about you and I will continue to pray for you and your family. I love and miss you Raymond .

“ Hello, my name is Vicky, I used to work with Ray & his dad Enoch for a security company in 2009. Ray & I became really close friends shortly after he walked into the office to get his check. I heard him over the phone but I never met him until that day. Somehow we clicked instantly. he was always very professional at work but outside of it, he was a goofball. he was so kind to me and even gentle with me like he wouldn't hurt a fly let alone hurt a person. I remember when he would come back to Fresno he would allow me to steal time away from his family to hang out with me, which I cherished every moment. He would tell me that he is going to help his family make Tamales. It was my 1st time trying warm apple cider Juice not sure if I would like it but I tried it right there because he told me "it's good, come on try it, it's good and warm and you'll like it" he looked at me with his soft eyes & that's when I knew this man is too good for me, he was so compassionate, loving and such a gentle soul, I'm so sorry this happened to you and I'm so sorry to your family! I pray for Strength, comfort, and healing over their hearts. You were so deeply loved and I hope you felt that my friend. I will miss you!
