“ Though I knew and spent time with Richard up at his cousin Lloyd Carter's for many years, I'll always remember him playing bass with the folks who eventually became the band The Wild Blue Yonder way back in the old days. I can see him playing that white Fender bass out in their funky studio behind Bill and Judy Bixler's Fowler rental. Back then the band didn't yet have a name or a club. Gary Nichols was playing a mean trumpet with him and them. RIP Richard. We shared some great times up at Cascadel. My heart goes out to his two sons and extended family. My heartfelt condolences. - Scotty
