“ I have such sweet memories of Richard and Rosemary in the New Wrinkles Show. They reflected the loving bond they shared, especially in the Waltz which was a favorite part of the show at that time.

“ Oh, to remember those days at Guarantee Savings, where I first met Dick in the loan department of Blackstone Branch and I a lowly teller. His smile was infectious along with his laugh. My condolences to his legacy of a large family.

“ I grew up a couple doors down from the Grill family on Ashcroft. My first encounter with Richard was as a 7 yr old kid having to go up to his door to report that I had accidentally broken one of his lawn sprinkler heads while riding a skateboard. I was scared to death that he was going to squash me, especially with my first impression of him and his gruff exterior! But he just told me to be careful next time and let me off the hook.

A few years later, the Grills became my regular lawn mowing customers in the neighborhood and would even task me to watch over their home when they were out of town.

Richard and my father were good friends for years and did a lot of traveling together, especially to all the Bulldogs football games out of town. These two guys even had “red seats” next to each other at the home games. Their combined joke telling abilities were legendary! After my Dad’s passing, my wife and I continued to sit behind Richard and Rosemarie and root for the “Dogs”.

Richard was a good man to me and a family friend. He will be missed terribly yet remembered fondly. Our love, respect and sincere condolences to Rosemarie and the entire Grill family.
