“ My earliest memories of my aunt Rosemary are when she used to take care of my siblings and I after school. My sister and I would walk over to my aunt Rosemary & uncle George's house from school quite often. I always felt welcomed and loved by my aunt. We especially loved her cooking (sopas and fideos)! My aunt, uncle, and cousins always made the 3 of us feel at home whenever they took care of us. I'll love you forever aunt Rosemary and I'll always be thankful for having you in my life as a young child.

“ I have a million and one memories of my Nana. As long as I can remember, she was my mama. It was for her that I made Mother's Day cards and Valentine's Day cards at school. She was my everything. She treated me like her daughter and took me everywhere with her and my grandpa. She would take me to the swamp meet and buy me chickies, damn well knowing they would die within a day or two, but it made me happy so she did. I know she had countless of arguments with family defending me, because in my nana's eyes, I could do no wrong! My cousins hated it growing up and teased me but I always cried to Nana. I've heard from relatives how much more she did for me, without ever knowing or realizing, but she always made sure I had everything and anything I wanted. My dad worked very hard to support me, and on long nights, he would come to pick me up and I would cry to stay with Nana. The later it got, I would try anything, even fake sleeping in the hopes of him letting me stay. As I grew into my teenage years, our bond only strengthened and there was nothing I kept from her not feared, because I knew she loved me unconditionally. As adulthood approached, I made my mistakes with school and such, and she always embraced me and taught me to stay strong and keep fighting for what I wanted in life. All my accomplishments, she took great pride in. My one more precious moment and memory is the day I graduated from college and presented her my stole of gratitude. She wore it so proudly and was in pure awe that night. That is something I will always hold dear to my heart and cry tears of joy. She's given me such love that I am forever changed and heartbroken to lose her physically. And in her last days, I was able to give her the gift of my pregnancy and she was so excited and overjoyed. Unfortunately, within the same week of losing her, I also lost my baby. She did what she always did and was meant to do, by consoling me, holding me, and being my momma as I wept tears of sadness. My nana has showed me what it means to truly love someone unconditionally. As she loved me, I've seen her love all her family and friends in the same grace. I only hope to continue to strive for success and make her proud as she watches me from up above.

“ THERE ARE REALLY NO WORDS THAT CAN BE SAID WHEN YOUR MAMMA PASSES AWAY. ALL YOU CAN DO IS LEAN ON THE LORD, TO GIVE YOU PEACE, COMFORT AND STRENGTH AT THIS HEARTBREAKING TIME. THE VOID WILL ALWAYS BE THERE BUT KNOW THIS THAT BEING ABSENT FROM THE BODY IS BEING IN THE PRESENCE OF THE LORD. AND HALLELUJAH WHAT A GLORIOUS DAY IT WILL BE, WHEN YOU SEE HER AGAIN WALKING ON THOSE STREETS OF GOLD SIDE BY SIDE WITH JESUS. RIGHT NOW I CAN SEE HER WITH A BIG SMILE ON HER FACE FEELING NO MORE PAIN AND NO MORE WORRIES. SHE HAS FINISHED HER JOURNEY ON EARTH AND NOW HAS THE ETERNAL LIFE THAT GOD PROMISES US. PRAYERS FOR MY SISTER LINDA AND THE REST OF THE FAMILY. GOD BLESS YOU ALL. FROM DELLA MONTALVO

“ I met Rosemary when I was 18 years old. She was beautiful and kind, and welcomed me in to the house like I was family. That never changed, no matter what. I was pregnant with Brandon and scared to death to tell anyone lol. But once the cat was out of the bag she wasted no time! Brandon's baby shower was held at Nana's house and she gave us a beautiful antique baby bassinet. All of my boy's first family memories occurred in that house with Rosemary and George and all the aunts, uncles and cousins. All my love to you all. God knew he placed an angel in our lives with nana....
