“ I couldn't begin to thank Sal enough for caring for my cousin, Janean, and helping her raise her family. Taking in children as his own and caring for them as their father has meant so much the family and it was good to see his desire to live his life so as to encourage his children to become closer to God. The influence that he had with his friends and family was palpable, and our family loved him just as one of our own. Most dearly to my heart, is his willingness to support our family during the recent loss of our beloved grandmother (who always prayed for him and counted him as her family), and his presence during her memorial services. He'll be dearly missed, but he will continue to hold a special place in our hearts.
