“ Yolie, my memories of you are those of our childhood, playing barbies, tag, laughing and enjoying the innocence and joy that being a kid brings. I am sad that we didn't get to interact much as we grew into adults.... the distance separated us, but I hope you know that you are a big part of my childhood memories. I remember being sad when my parents told me that you were going to move. Then life happened, and I got married and you and mi Tio Pelon made the trip to LA for my wedding. Thank you for that, I don't think I ever told you how much I appreciated you guys joining me on that day. Rest in paradise prima. I'm sure we will have more time to play barbies, one day. In the meantime, I will take your message to heart, "I will enjoy life, and be happy". <3

“ Amiga, still in disbelief that you were taken far too soon. Although our memories are from our middle school days, tons of laughs while you let me put an eraser to those brows lol, we still kept in touch lifting each other up with a compliment or two. Even reaching out during difficult times in each other’s lives...my heart hurts for your babies as they navigate through this difficult time. May you rest well Amiga, and look over your loved ones.

“ This world will not be the same without you My Yola. I am so blessed I was allowed to spend your last hours on this earth with you. Laughing, joking and making memories. We were an amazing team. I will never forget what an amazing person you were. You were selfless and giving to everyone. I was so blessed to be a part of your life, Daughter. I love you always. May you rest in the Lords arms. Heaven truly gained an angel.

“ My heart is heavy yet I'm still in disbelief. Yoli was no only a co-worker but a friend. We used to call each other "Comadre" for no reason. I will not forget she was small and petite in stature but had so much spunk. She was a little firecracker for sure. I will miss you my friend, but I know you are at peace now. No more pain Comadre.
